So far the British army in South Africa have used up about 15,000 horses, some of which were eaten in the beleaguered towns, but the American mule refuses to be used up.

Two Washington newspaper men have refused the office of secretary to the Philippine commission at $8,000 a year. Newspaper men can't afford to throw their time away on jobs like that.

The Boers are said to have some new guns, recently invented, of which the astute British war department knew nothing only that such guns had been patented sometime ago. It had no idea that any of them were in use.

If it wasn't for the "summer boarder" the State of New Hampshire would have to go out of business. There are summer boarding houses in 204 out of the 235 towns in the State, which pull the summer sojourners for about $10,442,000 in the aggregate.

Ex-Chief Justice Logan, of Georgia, at the age of 73, has a new wife, and is going to write a book. To avoid being annoyed by two young children which have recently come to his house, he has dug a cave out in his yard where he proposes to do his writing.

Two thousand Cuban school teachers are coming to this country next Summer to see how the American teachers teach the "young idea how to shoot." And then they may go back and spend a good deal of time in trying to unlearn some of the things they learned.

The Dowager Empress of China has been advised by nine of her eighteen viceroys that the 180,000,000 of people over whom they preside are in a kicking mood and may rebel if she doesn't become a little more gentle. But the old woman doesn't mind a little rucus like that.

In Sacramento, Cal., Paderewski encountered a negro minstrel troupe and when he found that only 123 tickets had been sold for his show he refused to perform and returned the money. Pad should always avoid running up against a minstrel troupe, for ivory banging in the estimation of the average American doesn't count against that.

Death of Mrs. Lennon.

The many friends in Wilmington of Mrs. D. L. Gore will deeply sympathise with her in the loss of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Lennon, whose death occurred Saturday at her home in Lumberton, N. C., after several days serious illness during which time Mrs. Gore was at her bedside. Mrs. Lennon was in the eighty-fifth year of her age and is survived by five children, all of whom are grown. They are Mrs. D. L. Gore, of this city, Mr. Woodbury Lennon, of Tifton, Ga., Mr. Ira Lennon, of Whiteville and Messrs. Gregory and Francis Lennon, of Lumberton. The funeral was appointed to have been held Sunday a'ternoon.

Time to Begin Work.

Wilmington should make all necessary preparations for the great White Supremacy meeting to be held here May 2nd. All the candidates on the State Democratic ticket will be here, and there are special reasons why Wilmington should welcome them with cordiality and enthusiasm. Two weeks from to-morrow should be a "red-letter" day in our history; but to win this distinction will require the best efforts of our County Executive Committee. The work should begin at once.

Executive Committee Meeting.

In another column official notice is given of a special meeting of the New Hanover Democratic County Executive Committee this evening at 6 o'clock in the court house. Mr. E. F. Johnson, the chairman, states that important business is to be transacted and that a full attendance is desired. Besides the transaction of the usual routine business it is expected that a clerk to the board will be elected to succeed the late Capt. John Cowan. Owing to the sickness of the chairman, Mr. H. C. McQueen, however, the matter may be again deferred.

THE SUPERIOR COURT

Convened Here Yesterday Morning, Judge Geo. H. Brown, Jr., Presiding.

Rearrangement of the Calendar and a Continuance of Many Cases Until Next Term—Two Small Matters Disposed Of—Jurors.

The opening day of the Spring term of New Hanover Superior Court yesterday was devoid of interest, so far as the hearing of cases was concerned, and after a continuance until the next term of the Strauss damage suit against the city, the only matter of public concern, the re-arrangement of the calendar and the continuance of a score of other unimportant matters, an adjournment was taken soon after 12 o'clock in the afternoon until 9.30 o'clock A. M. to-day.

Judge Brown is presiding with his characteristic ability, and all the county officers of the court are in attendance. Sheriff MacRae returned the following jurors summoned for the week: J. W. Dixon, H. J. Bierman, Henry B. Jewett, James Berg, Thos. E. Davis, J. B. Fales, Geo. J. Beach, T. F. Tyler, B. A. Merritt, Rudolph Hart, Wm. McD. Evans, R. F. Hamme, Sol Bear, M. J. Corbett, L. B. McKenzie, A. M. Pate and C. H. Casteen.

The following were excused: Henry B. Jewett, Thos. E. Davis, Thad F. Tyler, B. A. Merritt, W. McD. Evans, M. J. Corbett, A. M. Pate and C. H. Casteen.

The case of Mrs. Strauss against the city, the contentions in which are familiar to STAR readers, was the first to be taken up, and upon motion it was continued for the term in the absence of Mr. W. H. Shaw, Capt. T. D. Meares and several other witnesses for the plaintiff. The only other case set for a hearing on yesterday was that of Solomon King vs. Harriet King, a divorce proceeding in which the petition for separation was granted.

As there was nothing further to engage the jury and as a similar condition, according to the calendar, was likely to confront the court to-day, it was seen that a re-arrangement of the calendar was necessary, which was made as follows for the succeeding three days of the present term:

Tuesday, April 17th—Weeden vs. American Bonding and Trust Co.; Chas. S. Grainger vs. American Bonding and Trust Co.; Thomas & Mercer vs. Morriss Johnson and wife; W. F. Alexander vs. J. W. Plummer, Jr.; W. W. Kimball & Co. vs. W. G. MacRae, Sheriff; National Cash Register Co. vs. Lucy J. Farriss; Mercer vs. H. H. Woebse, et al.; Williams vs. H. H. Woebse, et al.; W. W. Kimball & Co. vs. M. P. Taylor, Jr.

Wednesday, April 18th.—George P. Cotchett vs. Virginia-Carolina Chemical Co.; Laura G. Hales vs. J. W. Harper.

Thursday, April 19th.—Vavassa Guano Co. vs. McNair & Pearsall; H. E. Bonitz vs. Frank T. Mills; Lerch Bros. vs. H. L. Fennell; Isaac Wilson vs. Elsie Wilson; Laura Brown vs. Alex. Brown; Mary E. McGee vs. A. W. McGee; Alice Beasley vs. Jno. Beasley.

The following is the official list of the disposition of cases made yesterday:

Solomon King vs. Harriet King; divorce proceeding; all issues answered in affirmative and divorce granted.

J. R. Strauss, executrix, vs. City of Wilmington; continued for plaintiff on account of absence of witnesses.

The following cases were continued: R. W. Hicks vs. John R. Turrentine; B. F. Penny vs. W. C. & A. Railroad Company. The following were continued by consent: W. E. Worth vs. T. J. Fergurson, et al.; W. A. Farriss vs. T. J. Ferguson, et al.; J. L. Boatwright Company vs. T. J. Fergurson, et al.; S. W. Sanders vs. T. J. Fergurson, et al.; Giles Cannon vs. T. J. Fergurson, et al.; J. E. Taylor vs. W. H. Howe; City of Wilmington vs. Caroline Howe, et al.; R. W. Smith vs. Inter State Telephone and Telegraph Company; J. D. Sidbury vs. W. T. Bannerman; H. L. Peterson vs. Jos. H. McRee.

In the case of J. H. Sloan vs. J. L. Hines a continuance was allowed and 60 days was given defendant to file answer.

Solomon King vs. Harriet King, divorce proceeding; judgment for plaintiff.

The following taliesmen have been summoned for to-day: E. O. Allen, E. M. Surly, John Eugene Jefferies, D. F. Klein, F. H. Kranke, J. C. Stevenson, Jr., I. J. Haywood, Jr., H. C. Twining, C. H. Cooper, Ed Norgood, A. B. Skelding, J. L. Calligham, H. M. Foard, John J. Forrest, C. D. Foard, Geo. F. Allen, Geo. W. Fredericks.

Off for Germany.

Mr. Henry Burfeindt left last evening on the northbound A. C. L. train for New York via points in New Jersey, where he will visit relatives, and on Tuesday, April 24th, he, with a party of other Wilmingtonians, will sail for Germany on the North German Lloyd steamship Kaiserin Maria Theresa. Mr. George Schnibben, Mr. Jno. H. Kuck, Mrs. Kuck and son will probably leave this week, sailing on the same steamer for their native land, and will remain in Germany for several months. The steamer will clear for Bremerhaven and from this point members of the party will go by rail to their respective homes. They all have a host of friends here who wish them bon voyage.

Coming Marriage.

Cards have been mailed to friends announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Annie Babette Ulrich to Mr. George James McMillan, Jr., on Wednesday afternoon, April 25th, at 5.30 o'clock in St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church. Admission will be by card.

BRILLIANT EASTER EVENT.

Thirty-fourth Annual Sociable and Ball Under Auspices of the Hibernian Benevolent Society.

The thirty-fourth annual sociable and ball given under the auspices of the Hibernian Benevolent Society last night was attended with a large measure of success and in many points it excelled in brilliancy and pleasure giving all similar events in former years.

The hall on the third floor of the building occupied by the Hibernian Society was tastefully and profusely decorated with bamboo, ferns, American and Irish colors, flags and banners and upon the tables in front of the hall, where seasonable and delightful refreshments were served, there were many potted plants and Easter lilies, which made the apartment both pretty and refreshing. The hall was well lighted and there was ample floor space for dancing, which was participated in by about seventy-five couples. The music was furnished by the Italian band of the city and the couples were led through the mazes of the dance until well nigh 2 o'clock this morning. Messrs. Wm. Sheehan, Jr., and Dr. T. B. Carroll were the floor managers and to their competency in this capaity is due much of the success of the dance.

An account of the sociable would be incomplete without a reference to the capable and efficient management of the refreshment committee, which was composed of ladies, as follows, Mrs. M. O'Brien (chairman), Mrs. James Madden, Mrs. Timothy Donlan, Mrs. Wm. Flanagan, Mrs. John Meier, Mrs. Walter G. Furlong, Mrs. Thos. Quinlivan, Miss Mary C. Darby, Miss Ellen Sheehan and Miss Alice Torpy. Each one vied with another in making it pleasant for their guests and themselves and a delightful affair it was in their apartment.

The gentlemen composing the arrangement committee have already been published and then there were various sub-committees, each of which admirably performed the duties assigned.

The annual sociable and dance of 1900 will go down in the memories of those in attendance as one of the most eminently successful in years.

FRED HOWLAND PARDONED.

Report, Apparently Well Authenticated, That He Will Go Free May 1st.

It was learned yesterday from two sources, one of which is undoubtedly authoritative, that Fred Howland, white, has been pardoned by the Governor, the said pardon to take effect May 1st. Howland was sent to the penitentiary from New Hanover court about two and a half years ago for statutory larceny, in that he took a horse belonging to another party and drove it to the city from the sound, afterwards releasing it of his own violation.

He was sentenced to a term of seven or eight years in the State prison and is at present engaged at the Castle Hayne phosphate mine, which is operated by convict labor.

Several months ago a petition was circulated and liberally signed in Wilmington for his pardon and it now appears that the petition has been favorably considered by the Governor and Howland will be a free man May 1st.

The Market Street Paving

Yesterday the cobble stones were being removed from the edges of Market between Front and Water streets where the new paving with vitrified brick will begin in a very short time. The gutters were also being excavated preparatory to laying the new terra cotta piping to be used as water ways.

Yesterday afternoon at 1 o'clock Capt. C. H. White and Capt. Donald MacRae, of the Wilmington Light Infantry, and First Lieutenant A. B. Skelding, of the Naval Reserves, had a conference with the Streets and Wharves Committee relative to paving the street directly across, leaving out the plaza, so as to afford a drill groung for the military organizations of the city. The conference was highly satisfactory to the several companies of the city and it may be definitely stated that there will be no plaza or other obstruction in the way of having a first class drill ground in every respect.

Summer Theatricals.

The STAR learns that a company of theatrical managers is arranging to lease the Opera House during the coming Spring and Summer months and to afford to the amusement loving public a series of uninterrupted high class plays by an A 1 repertoire company, which will remain here during the entire season. The box sheet will be open daily from 10 o'clock A. M. until the close of the show and the management proposes to afford intertainment of such a standard of excellence as will make the enterprise a paying institution during the entire Summer. It is hoped to open the Opera House under the new management for the Summer as early as May 1st.

For St. Philip's Ruins.

The Colonial Dames will give an elegant tea on to-morrow afternoon for the benefit of the fund which was recently established by the North Carolina Colonial Dames for the restoration and preservation of the ruins of St. Philip's Church on the Cape Fear river near its mouth. This will be the first of a series of entertainments for this worthy cause and quite a number of invitations have been issued.

AT "AIRLIE" ON THE SOUND.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones Entertain in Compliment to Their Daughter, Miss Sadie Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones gave a splendid german last night at their elegant Summer home, "Airlie" on Wrightsville Sound in compliment to their daughter, Miss Sadie, who with her parents and a number of friends are spending some time in North Carolina.

There was quite a large number of participants from Wilmington in the terpischorean festivities, the party having been taken to "Airlie" on a special train over the Seacoast railroad, which returned to the city after the close of the german. Music was furnished by two string bands from the city and a most delightful season was spent.

Among the young ladies from Wilmington, who were the guests of Miss Jones on this occasion, were Miss Lucile Murchison, Miss Louise Bellamy, Miss Isabel Rountree, Miss Madeline DeRosset, Miss Margaret Walker, Miss Jennie Burbank, Miss Bessie Burriss, Miss Margaret Bridgers, Miss Mary Allen Short, Miss Elizabeth Elliott, Miss Maudita Elliott, Miss Anna Peck, Miss Sarah Kenan, and Miss Bryan of Charleston.

On next Thursday evening the annual festival given by the church to the children will take place and a very pleasant season is anticipated. These events are always elaborate and highly successful and this year will be no exception to the custom.

STATE ENCAMPMENT.

Wilmington is Pushing Wrightsville's Advantages as Ideal Location for Camp.

COMMITTEE VISITED BEACH.

Chamber of Commerce Members, Property Owners and the Captain of W. L. I. Found Three Suitable Places on the Beach and Sound.

The Chamber of Commerce and other commercial bodies of the city, the military organizations and citizens generally are going to put forward every effort to have the State Guard encampment at Wrightsville this year and preparations to this end have begun in a substantial way.

STAR readers will remember that at a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, President W. E. Worth brought the matter to the attention of members and the idea of having the "soldiers" with us this Summer met with enthusiastic favor from the very beginning and Mr. Worth was instructed to address a communication to Col. Francis A. Macon, Quartermaster General of the N. C. State Guard, inviting him to Wilmington to look the situation over. Mr. Worth has been in correspondence with Col. Macon and it is very probable that he will be here in a very short time to investigate Wilmington's claim for having the encampment at Wrightsville.

That everything should be in definite shape and that Col. Macon upon his arrival here may be presented with the facts in a convincing manner, a committee consisting of Mr. W. E. Worth, Col. W. A. Johnson, Col. Walker Taylor, Mr. W. A. Wright, Mr. George R. French and Capt. C. H. White, of the Wilmington Light Infantry, yesterday visited the beach and sound and inspected a number of ideal locations for the camp and talked the matter over among themselves.

The first spot inspected was the open plain at the extreme southern end of the beach. Then, too, the old camp grounds about the "hammocks" were gone over and both were found admirably adapted for camp purposes, drill grounds, etc. The party next went back to the sound and examined a location on Mr. W. A. Wright's place. Each of the grounds visited was found to be in excellent condition and it is believed that upon the occasion of Col. Macon's visit here he will unhesitatingly decided to bring the Guard to Wrightsville.

Wilmington is anxious to entertain "the boys" and it is believed in turn that they are anxious to come here.

BUTLER TALKING "ROT."

Says the Rep.-Pop. Conference Could Not Agree on Fusion in North Carolina. There Will Be Only One Ticket.

[Special Star Telegram.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 16.—Although the conference of Republicans and Populists, held in this city, could not agree to a fusion, it is very probable that there will be but one ticket nominated.

Senator Butler to-day, in speaking of the conference, said he was very sorry they had not reached an agreement. He said that the Populists presented the name of Cyrus Thompson for Governor, but that Senator Pritchard and his friends wished Congressman Linney nominated, and in support of their claim set up the fact that they polled the largest vote and were entitled, to the head of the ticket. The Senator said this point kept them in session two days; that he tried to impress upon the Republicans that without fusion the Democrats were sure to win, but that his argument was of no avail. That there were other minor disagreements, but none that could not have been readily adjusted provided they could have agreed on the governorship. He said further that the Populists would nominate Dr. Cyrus Thompson at their convention and ask the Republicans to endorse his nomination and divide the rest of the ticket.

Prominent Democrats here do not take any stock in the above statement given out by Senator Butler or in the similar one given out to by H. C. Dockery, but say that this is merely given out to divert attention and gain certain votes that they would otherwise lose. A member of the N. C. delegation to day said: "This all sounds very nice, but it is the rankest kind of rot. They have no possible chance without fusion and are fully aware of the fact. Then with fusion I do not think that any of them are over zealous to make the sacrifice. Senator Butler had better smoke up."

Naval Reserves Ball Game.

A meeting of the base ball contingent of the Wilmington Division Naval Reserves will be held in the armory this evening after boat drill. It is proposed to elect a captain, manager and other officers of the team and to make arrangements for the game with the Atlantic Coast Line team, a reference to the organization of which was made in these columns Sunday morning.

The First Strawberries.

A correspondent of the STAR writing under date of yesterday from Montague, N. C., says: "The first strawberries of the season were shipped by one of the most enterprising truck farmers, Mr. A. Bowen, from Montague April 12th, 1900. Since then he has made other shipments of fine ripe berries."

Ye Proof of ye Pudding is in ye Eating, and Ye Test of Goode Clothing is in ye Wearing.

FROM the earliest times down to the present dawn of the 20th century, the making of Clothing has undergone a most wonderful process of evolution. From the wearing of skins of wild beasts to the wearing of the correctly-cut and handsomely-made garments which mark this epoch in Clothing-making, every successive stage has been a step in the direction of comfort, beauty, style and durability.

The High-Art Clothing manufactured by Strouse & Bros., Baltimore, represents the highest type of Clothing evolution, and is the result of 33 years' experience in making the best that can be produced and of a most rigid and painstaking examination of all material to be used, rejecting all that are not known to be good.

High-Art Clothing is not a product of the "Sweat Shop System." It is made by Strouse & Bros. on their own premises, covering 100,000 square feet, where work is done under the most auspicious conditions.

All garments bearing their ticket are Tailor-made and guaranteed to the wearer.

All those who high art clothing wear will find no better anywhere.

TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

There is a growing interest in the subject of technical schools in the South, but thus far this interest is centered mostly in textile schools, as cotton manufacturing is now the industry that attracts the most attention. As these schools are a new thing with us, of course we cannot be expected to cover the whole field at first, but must content ourselves with such as are most in demand, but with time branch out until we cover the field. The South is destined to be not only the great cotton manufacturer of the world, but a great woollen and silk manufacturer, so that it is well that the textile school is commanding attention, but she is destined also to be a great iron and steel manufacturer, a great builder of machinery, of agricultural implements and of various other things, on which she has yet scarcely ventured, and all this will make it not only advisable but necessary to widen the scope of industrial education and training.

This is no experiment, for these schools in this and in other countries have passed beyond the experimental stage. We have not only proof of their value in the results attending some of our own schools, although in operation but a short time, but we have even more proof in the wonderful progress of Germany, where more attention is given to technical education than in any other country in the world, to which it is generally admitted her great progress is mainly due. There is in last week's issue of the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record an article, by J. C. Monaghan, United States consul at Chemnitz, on the industrial schools in Germany, from which we make some extracts because they show how thorough the system is there, how wide the scope, and the interest the German Government takes in developing the talents and the skill of its people. Noting the fact, by way of contrast to Germany, that this country is indebted very largely for her success to her matchless natural resources, which have led some to think that we can always hold the lead, and are therefore not in need of industrial schools, he says:

"The question to ask is not what Germany is or is not with them, but what the empire would be to-day, or rather would not be, had it not had them? Add then this question, not what are we without such schools, but what we undoubtedly would be to day had we had them. As helpers to natural talents they are without rivals. This the Germans recognize. So, too, do the French, Belgians and English. These people have sent commission after commission to study the forces that have helped Germany to a place in the van of of progressive industrial and commercial States. The answer in each case by each commission was, the empire's technical industrial schools.

"So successful a system was sure to commend itself to all parts of the empire. Their fame has gone out into the ends of Europe, if not of earth. All countries are making efforts to engraft or incorporate similar ones into their regular systems. No part of the empire is without them. Berlin has from twenty to twenty-five. Among these are schools for builders, bricklayers, blacksmiths, braiders, bookbinders, barbers, cabinetmakers, chimney sweepers, glazers, gardeners, painters, paperhangers, shoemakers, saddlers, tailors, wheelwrights, weavers, etc. They are attended by nearly 10,000 pupils, employ 350 teachers and do a good work, possible only by a system that aims at perfection. Several of these schools are open day and night. The equipment is excellent. The method of teaching is practical as possible. For example, boys who are to be blacksmiths stand around a large table on which are plaster cast models of horses' hoofs. Near these are actual hoofs from actual horses. The teacher takes the plaster-cast hoofs apart, passes the parts around among the pupils, explains where veins, quick, etc., will be found in normal and abnormal forms, showing how real normal and real abnormal forms conform to the plaster cast ones or vice versa. After the theoretical hour or hours, under excellent professors, the boys go to real blacksmith shops in which real horses are being shod and assist in the work. Once the course is completed and the necessary knowledge and skill are acquired, the boy begins life for himself, but before he lays hand on a horse's hoof he must have his certificate of ability. This is as it should be. How many horses are made lame here by unskillful blacksmiths?

"Most of the courses include reading, writing, arithmetic, bookkeeping, physics, mechanics, drawing and modeling. These differ in the different departments of the schools. All are eminently successful. The courses in textiles are as thorough as they are in any of the other lines. Woolen workers learn not only the geography of wools, but they learn how to sort wool as it should be sorted to get the very best results. The course for cotton-spinners and weavers begins at the cotton bulb on the plantation in India, the Carolinas, Texas, Tennessee, Tunis or Egypt, and ends in the finished product on the counters of New York's, Boston's Baltimore's or Chicago's big stores.

This shows the wide range the system takes, embracing what would be considered in this country very unimportant callings, and it shows also how thorough is the system of instruction pursued, giving the students not only training for the business they are to follow but familiarizing them with the material with which they are to work, master workmen in the full sense.

There are a number of callings which command attention in these German schools that we wouldn't give much if any attention to, which wouldn't be worth it in this country, whatever they may be in Germany or in other European countries. Such things will be governed by the conditions, and demand for training. But in the higher industries on the progress and prosperity of which so many are dependent, and on which our industrial and commercial success must largely depend when we come into competition with a country or countries where educated, skilled labor is the rule, there is no question as to the value and importance of these schools.

As showing the effect of such schools on the people, and how necessary they will become with us, the writer says in conclusion:

"The man who knows the laws that are in the things he works with will get more out of his life than money can purchase. The mason who is familiar with his marble, granite or sandstone, who knows whence it came, to what period of the earth's history it belongs, its very life, its old ways, etc., will work out infinitely higher results on the senseless stone and on himself than will the worker who knows only that for his ten hours' labor he is to get ten shillings or $2.50. The worker in wood who knows all about endogenous and exogenous trees, who knows the laws preliminary to trees and woods, will work with a will and intelligence impossible to him whose interest mounts no higher than his weekly wage. The farmer or farmer's son who is familiar with the laws underlying the grasses in the meadows, the lilies in the fields, the gnarled old oak and lofty pine, the stately elm and the sweet maple, will work with a will and pleasure foreign to the ignorant bore. Such a toiler, as he bends above the earth, whose laws he can read, or raises his eyes to the heavens, the courses of whose secrets are to him as an open book, will give his God a worship high, infinitely higher than that of the clodhopper who bends his soul as he does his body beneath a burden of fear. O, how much there is to learn! How much there is to do! Now is the day and now is the hour! No country that I know anything about needs these schools so much as our country. A new era is opening—an era of trade relations with the world. If we are to win our way and hold it in the East, Russia, South America, South Africa, Australia, Polynesia, we must have these schools. Nor can we introduce them too soon."

All that is herein said is intended for the United States as a whole, but it is especially applicable to the South which, once mainly an agricultural section, is becoming a great manufacturing section, in this respect resembling Germany once almost exclusively an agricultural country, now a great commercial and manufacturing country, made so mainly by her industrial schools.

A HEARTY RESPONSE.

We could fill columns of THE STAR with extracts from the Democratic press of the State commending the ticket nominated by the State convention and the platform adopted. Of course we expected loyal acceptance of the action of the convention, for that is characteristic of the Democratic press of the State, but there is now not only loyal acceptance but hearty and enthusiastic endorsement, regardless of the expressed preferences of the papers before the nominations were made. This is a good sign and a harbinger of victory, for it indicats not only a solid party but an enthusiastic, aggressive and confident party.

Judging from the make-up of the convention, the representative character of the men who composed it, the large representation, every county being represented by its own chosen delegates, and from the very hearty approval of its action by the press and the people, the party was never in better trim on entering upon a campaign, and never had reason to feel more confident of victory. It is in the air. In this contest for white supremacy every white man will do his duty and that means victory.

TUBS CAST TO A WHALE.

The "concessions" and "compromises" to bring the Republicans in Congress together on the Porto Rican bill and throw dust in the eyes of Republican voters who are opposed to the violation of our pledges and the sacrifice of national good faith and honor are not placating the Republican papers which opposed the Porto Rican tariff job for the benefit of the trusts, whose contributions will be needed in the next campaign. Throwing the onus on Mark Hanna, who is accused of making the deal which secured the passage of that bill, and threatening to call him down from the chairmanship of the National Committee, does not mollify them, for they understand all that, and if Hanna did work the deal that is no extenuation of the offence, for yielding to Hanna makes the party as bad or worse than Hanna, from whom nothing respectable was expected by decent Republicans.

The Chicago Inter-Ocean is one of the leading Republican papers of the country, one which opposed this infamous proceeding from its inception, and now that the infamy has been consummated denounces it in the following plain and vigorous language:

"The American people cannot be deluded by such palpable makeshifts. Their sense of justice and fair play is strong and undulled. They believe our pledges to the Porto Ricans of 'equal blessings and immunities,' of 'one flag and one destiny,' should be sacredly kept. They hold that 'our plain duty' now is the same as it was before any lobby went to Washington. They view the conduct of their representative with undiminishing amazement. They see in such conduct political folly which may easily result in party suicide and national dishonor. In all this they are conscientious. Hence, in the so-called 'concessions' and 'compromises,' which leave the evil principle of the Onnard act untouched, and even in the determination to throw Mr. Hanna overboard, they s e nothing but tubs cast to a whale, nothing but 'springs to catch woodcocks.'

"In vain is the net spread in the sight of the bird."

This is but one of a large number of Republican papers which are equally outspoken in their condemnation of this iniquitous business.

STRUCK A SNAG.

It seems that Marion Butler and Hon. Jeter Pritchard are encountering some obstacles in carrying out their little co-operative fusion game to send both Marion and Jeter back to the Senate. The other fellows, whose assistance was necessary to carry out this game, want something themselves, and they didn't see how this little scheme of these two distinguished dickerers was going to help them, and as there are not paying offices enough to go around the boys who couldn't get what they wanted naturally kick. That, our Washington correspondent tells us, was the outcome of the recent conference in Washington.

The probabilities are, however, that they will come to some understanding as to the distribution of the spoils, for the Republicans will be willing to concede a good deal for the assistance of the Butler contingent, knowing, as they do, that they can't accomplish anything without it, if they can with it. But, again, Marion and his henchmen have heard so much from Populists who are disgusted with his dickering, that he may now be disposed to go a little slower on that line. As far as the result goes it doesn't matter whether they fuse or not, for Butler can control only a small part of the Populist vote, the larger part being thoroughly disgusted with his bartering methods, and utter ignoring of principle in his politics.

The house of a man in a Missouri town was burglarized a few nights ago out of a square meal and $2. The owner found a note from the burglar man, who apologized for the liberty he took, because he was very hungry and out of money. He couldn't return the victuals eaten, but promised that when he got to St. Louis, for which town he was heading, if he found work he would remit the two dollars, to which he had helped himself. The burglarized citizen accepted the explanation as entirely satisfactory.

Representative Payne says the part he took in boosting the Porto Rican bill "is the proudest act" of his life. It doesn't take much to make some men proud.

Prevented A Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long, of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of Pneumonia. Such cures are the positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, lung and chest troubles. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S drug store; every bottle guaranteed. †

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run-down people. Only 50 cents. Sold by R. R. BELLAMY, druggist. †

SPIRITS TURPENTINE.

— Wilkesboro Chronicle: The wheat prospects are not good, especially in the low lands. It is badly frozen out and will hardly make half a crop. This is the information we gather from farmers of observation and experience.

— Graham Gleaner: Mr. W. F. Jones, Sr., passed away at his home in this place Monday morning, 9th inst., after a brief illness, in the 81st year of his age. He was truly one of the landmarks of the town and had lived here almost from its very foundation.

—Lincoln Journal: A heart-breaking tragedy occurred near Henry last Thursday evening. The wife of John Falls went out to milk, leaving her children alone in the house. As she returned from the barn she met one of the children, a little 3-year old girl, with all its clothing on fire. The little child was burned to crisp and died immediately.

— Raleigh Post: Mr. A. B. Rowell, of Northampton county, was killed by a train on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, near Weldon, Friday afternoon. Mr. Rowell had been drinking, and the engineer stated that just before the train reached him he suddenly staggered upon the track and in an instant the engine was upon him. He was badly mangled.

— Fayetteville Observer: Mrs. W. A. McLean died at Roslin, near Hope Mills, yesterday of pneumonia. —Mrs. W. Norton died at Hope Mills Thursday in the 22 year of her age. — Henry Williams, a well-known and well esteemed colored man of this city, tells the reporter of a queer "jag" the wind got on yesterday, taking up a space of a couple of hundred yards square, while all around was calm and serene. It was one of the smallest of cyclones and the biggest of the ordinary, skipping, girating whirlwinds, scattering the fencing around Mr. Newberry's place into small bits and tearing off the shingles of one or two small houses. The exhibition lasted about a minute.

— Gastonia Gazette: The foreigner who wandered off from the depot last week ago, an account of which appeared in our last issue was found near Stanly on last Thursday morning, by Messrs. Brown Peterson and Will Richards. They put him in a buggy and brought him to Gastonia. The account we published last was the means of setting the old man on his road again. He was probably a Hungarian, but his name could not authentically be ascertained as he could speak no words of English. He had lost his ticket in his wanderings. It is presumed that his people to whom he is going live out in the country and he thought this was the station he was to get off at. When his valise and bundle were given to him he picked up the book, supposed to be the Bible, and kissed it. He came very near escaping the second time at Spartanburg.

— Charlotte News: The Textile School in connection with Lee's Business College, is to be opened Monday. Mr. Malcolm B. Hunter, son of Mr. H. L. Hunter, of Long Creek, has arrived to take charge of the school. Rev. Hunter was taking a course in a Textile School in Philadelphia for several years, and is a recent graduate. He has also been filling a position in a cotton factory there. — Jim Byers, colored who was arraigned in the Criminal Court several days ag, charged with the murder of Fannie Gillespie, colored was tried to-day (Saturday). Witnesses were examined for an hour or so. The evidence was the same as given previously in the News. Col. H. C. Jones, who defended Byers, submitted to manslaughter and Judge Moore sentenced Byers to 12 months on the chain gang. Byers, it will be remembered, shot the woman in a house near Davidson. He claimed that he did not intend to kill her; that he was handling a pistol carelessly and that the pistol was discharged, the ball striking the woman in the forehead and killing her.

—— An early adjournment of Congress, which is now probable, would save the Republican party from carrying the steamship subsidy load along with its other heavy burdens in the coming Presidential campaign. CURRENT COMMENT.

—— The Republican Senators who visited the White House after the passage of the Porto Rican tariff bill were congratulated by the President. A refusal to do one's "plain duty" is seemingly a laudable act according to the McKinley ethical code.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot, Dem.

—— It is said that Mr. McKinley, commenting on Editor Kohlsaat's opposition to the Porto Rican tariff, remarked: "I have never refused him a favor." No doubt the benevolent president's feelings are very much hurt at finding an editor who doesn't swap his conscience for favors.—Atlanta Constitution, Dem.

—— The members of the Montana Legislature are probably glad enough that the Senate has decided that it must purge itself of Mr. Clark. They may now look forward to a new crop of $1,000 bills and with the experience they have had they ought to be able to get a greater number of them the next time. Savannah News, Dem.

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 16.—There were no cable accounts from the English cotton market and trading here was upon a conservative scale. Prices pursued a somewhat variable course. The opening call developed a steady feeling with prices one point lower to four points higher. There was a lack of outside support and prices gave way a little under local pressure. Later, however, the market rallied again and took a level four to fourteen points above the final figures Thursday; the upward movement was in the face of local selling and was chiefly attributed to Wall street buying, an unsatisfactory weather map and a reported scarcity of seed for re-planting. At best, however, the trading reflected timidity on the part of all classes of trades pending the resumption of cable news from Liverpool to-morrow. Throughout the session the old crop positions maintained a very steady relation to the rest of the list. Towards the close of business the market became more active and decidedly firmer on covering, following evidences of renewed Wall street support. Closed steady at a net advance of two to twelve points.

GLASS HOUSES.

The Uses the Farmer Can Make of Them—The Cold Grapery.

The use of glass houses for growing plants, flowers and vegetables of all kinds is far more prevalent than it was 40 or 50 years ago. Then hothouses, or greenhouses, as they were generally called, were almost exclusively the luxuries of the very wealthy. Next they were taken up by nurserymen and gardeners to forward a small portion of their crop or to carry on operations during winter and produce more sets for spring planting. Now the greenhouse, with steam heat is becoming recognized as one of the most important and best paying adjuncts of every farm whose owner has the skill and intelligence required to run it. The greenhouse opens a new field of industry. It provides interesting, instructive and profitable employment during months when farm operations consist only in the feeding of stock and the consumption of a large part of what the farm has produced during the summer.

It does not cost nearly so much to put up glass houses now and fit them out with steam heat as it did a generation ago. The creation of such an establishment on any farm must add far more to its selling value than the cost, and the farmer must be indeed a poor manager if he cannot by its use forward the vegetables he will himself grow and sell much more each year than all the cost of keeping it in operation. Besides, there is the luxury of maintaining a bit of summer with all kinds of green things growing for wife and little ones to enjoy while cold near to zero prevails outside. There is hardly anything that very little children wonder at more or are more pleased with than to go from a cold outside winter's day into a greenhouse where the air, though moist, is kept at summer heat.

Glass is now made so cheaply and greenhouses are so little expense that they are profitably used for growing many things for market that were formerly grown out of doors. All the best foreign varieties of grapes are grown by some of the leading nurserymen in cold graperies, where no heat is used, and the vines are resting during the winter just the same as they do out of doors. But under glass in the cold grapery the buds will start several weeks earlier than they can in the open air. The grapes will not be chilled at night by dews, as they are out of doors even during most of the summer months. Hence they will ripen without mildewing the foliage or having the fruit attacked by fungus.

In concluding the foregoing suggestive article The American Cultivator says that to some extent the growers of native grapes are taking a hint from the cold grapery under glass. If a native vine is trained so that some of its fruit is ripened under a protecting awning, such fruit will be much finer and better than it ever can be grown on parts of the vine that are not thus protected.

Handling Corn Fodder.

No other grain is so well adapted to the requirements of the cattle feeder as cheap corn, and for roughness there are few feeds equal to corn fodder. A Kansas man says in the Ohio Farmer that in preparing the corn crop for feeding cattle the common small grain thrasher has been used with good success. The shredded fodder as it comes from the machine is run directly into a pen or rack right in the feed yard and large enough, as a rule, to hold at least a day's thrashing, say 16 by 24 or 16 by 32 feet. A sort of manger is made around the rack, into which the fodder passes through an opening at the bottom of the rack, as illustrated.

FEED RACK FOR SHREDDED FODDER.

A Timely Hint.

The month of November and so much of December as may not be very cold are times when sheep need shelter from cold rains and winds. They can endure a great deal of dry cold, but when wet to the skin they do not easily get dry again, and the chill will lower vitality, if it does not cause disease, remarks American Cultivator.

Agricultural Brevities.

The "abandoned farm" bids fair to become extinct in New England. According to latest reports, Connecticut's cheap farms are being absorbed, though at low prices. The acreage in the last official list of farms for sale is much reduced from the original statistics. Commenting upon this, however, an exchange says it does not necessarily indicate a revival of "hard fisted" farming. Much land is taken up by summer residents, "fancy" farmers, fish and game syndicates, etc.

The New England Homestead reports the cranberry crop as liberal, on the whole, though unevenly distributed. The outlook for prices is moderately encouraging, with the amount of the total available supply against fancy quotations.

A meeting of the American Beet Sugar association at Omaha is announced for Dec. 5. The question of opposing any reduction in the protection which the government now affords the industry will be considered.

Concerning the plan of setting poor people to growing potatoes on vacant city lots, The Country Gentleman says the work has been a good one and is of promise in a most desirable direction—the interesting of poor people, unable to make their own living in the city, in agriculture.

Is It Satisfactory?

That's the question that goes with every purchase here. If it's not satisfactory, bring it back to-day—to-morrow—next week—and get your money. It is this absolute assurance of fair dealing that retains our trade. Our customers know that "money back" is not a cry set up to deceive the unwary into buying, followed by all sorts of undue excuses and quibblings to avoid returning money on displeasing purchases. One of our maxims reads: "For you to remain dissatisfied is to make us more dissatisfied." It isn't to-day's trade we're depending on—it's to-morrow's—next week's—next month's—next year's! We want you to be so well pleased with your treatment here and with what you buy here, that you'll come again and again. And we will remark right now that our efforts to please have been so uniformly successful that calls for "money back" are rarely made. But it's here just the same, for any and all demands that may be made for purchases returned as undesirable.

The Light that failed.

Old gives way to new.
Old methods of artificial lighting—THEN considered excellent—are now replaced by modern oil, gas and electric agencies.
All this for the sake of eyes that look.
Without good eyes no need for good light. Artificial aid for sight has kept pace with artificial light.

Modern spectacle and eyeglass fitting, exemplified in our method, is as remote from the tallow candle day as is electricity.

ON AN EXCURSION TRAIN.

Negro Desperado Shot to Death by Enraged White Men Near Slaughtersville, Kentucky.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HOPKINSVILLE, KY., April 16.—A dozen enraged white men shot Morgan Boone, colored, to death on an excursion train near Slaughtersville last night. Boone's body was then thrown from the rapidly moving train.

Boone and his companions, in the second class car, had been drinking heavily. As the train approached Slaughtersville Boone started back through the coaches, brandishing a revolver and threatening instant death to any one attempting to intercept him. A panic ensued among the women and children. One of the male excursionists was about to rise from his seat when he was felled by a coupling-pin which Boone carried.

As the wounded man's cry rang through the train a dozen white men rushed after the negro, who took refuge in the smoker. He was given no quarter and fell mortally wounded at the first volley. His body was dragged to the platform and thrown off into the brush beside the track.

BUTLER MAKES A BAD BREAK.

Opposed Reference to Committee of the House Resolution for Election of Senators.

ALASKAN CIVIL CODE BILL.

Amendment Adopted Regulating Mining Along the Seashore—Urgent Deficiency Bill Passed—House Proceedings—The Naval Bill.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—During almost the entire session to-day the Senate had under consideration the Alaskan Civil code bill. The amendment providing for the mining of gold along the beach in the district was perfected, after a discussion lasting nearly four hours.

When the Senate convened, the House joint resolution in favor of a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States Senators by the people was laid before the Senate. As it was about to be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, Senator Butler, North Carolina, asked that it be read and then addressed the Senate briefly. He declared it was the function of a committee of the Senate to consider, not to smother legislation. He thought this question had been so thoroughly considered that it was not necessary to send it to a committee, and he therefore moved that it be placed on the calendar.

Senator Chandler, chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, objected to Senator Butler making imputations upon the committee.

Senator Hoar called attention to the gravity of the proposition submitted, that the matter should not be considered by a committee of the Senate. He did not approve of the proposed amendment, holding that its adoption would give the United States two legislative bodies, both chosen by the people in popular elections; the only difference being that the Senators would have a larger constituency than the Representatives.

Senator Pettus, of Alabama, expressed his regret that reflections had been made upon the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

The motion to place the resolution on the calendar was withdrawn.

Senator Hale presented an additional Urgency Deficiency bill, and it was passed without debate.

A bill providing for the removal to a proper district for trial of persons indicted in the United States courts was also passed.

The Senate resumed consideration of the Alaskan Civil Code bill. After some discussion Mr. Stewart withdrew an amendment he had offered as to regulations for the mining of gold below low water mark along the coast of Alaska.

The following amendment was finally agreed to:

"They shall be subject only to such limitations as may be necessary to exempt navigation from artificial obstruction. All land and shoal water below mean high tide on the shores, bays and inlets of Behring sea within the jurisdiction of the United States shall be subject to exploration for gold and other precious metals by citizens of the United States, or persons who have legally declared their intentions to become such, under such reasonable rules and regulations as the miners in organized mining districts may have heretofore made or may hereafter make, governing the temporary possession thereof, for exploration and mining purposes until otherwise provided by law; Provided, further, that the rules and regulations established by the miners shall not be in conflict with the mining laws of the United States and all permits heretofore granted authorizing any person or persons, or corporation to excavate or mine under any of said waters are hereby revoked and declared null and void, and the reservation of a roadway sixty feet wide, under the tenth section of the act of May 14th, 1898, entitled, 'An act extending the homestead laws and providing for right of way of railroads in Alaska, and for other purposes,' shall not apply to mineral lands or town sites."

After an executive session the Senate, at 4.45 P. M., adjourned.

House of Representatives.

The House to-day entered upon the consideration of the Naval Appropriation bill with the prospect of a severe struggle ahead over the question of armor plate, building ships in government yards and the provision in the bill for the coast and geodetic survey. The bill carries $13,000,000 more than any previous naval bill. No arrangement could be reached to limit general debate. To-day Mr. Foss, the acting chairman of the committee, made a general defence of the bill, which was also defended by Mr. Cummings, the ranking minority member of the committee. The latter declared that the committee had information that we could obtain Krupp armor at a price lower than any other country in the world.

When the House went into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill, Mr. Foss explained the total amount, $61,200,000, was the largest ever carried by a naval appropriation bill in our history.

He continued: "The best peace conference is a strong and efficient navy. Sea power is recognized the world over as the strength of a great nation. We are building a navy, but a navy to maintain our foreign policy; to defend the Monroe doctrine and to guard the proposed Nicaragua canal, which, I trust, will never be built, unless the American navy has the right, as it has the ability, to defend it in time of war. While protection to ourselves was the watchword of the past century, commerce will be the watchword of the coming. We will not only continue to build our own ships of American material, and by American hands, but at the same time we will build, as we have been building recently, ships for Japan and Russia, and in time, by reason of the decreased supply of iron and steel in other countries we will be building the navy of England, of France, of Germany and the other great naval powers."

Mr. Foss said that regarding armor for all the ships, except the Maine, Wisconsin and Missouri, the committee had concluded to leave the whole question to the House. He said the committee deemed it unwise to recommend the establishment of a government armor plate factory. He quoted Admiral O'Neill's opinion that such an establishment would cost $4,872,000, and that he did not believe the government should manufacture its armor plate.

Mr. Foss said the committee had been largely moved in deciding against the building of ships in government yards by the opinion of Secretary Long that it would cost to build them in government yards twice as much as in private yards.

Mr. Cummings, New York, the ranking minority member of the committee, followed Mr. Foss. He delivered a glowing eulogy on the glories of the American navy and its vital necessity to the country. "And what was being done," he asked. "Three battleships were on the stocks without armor. Three were authorized with a string attached. They were not even to be contracted for unless the armor could be procured for $300 a ton. This bill recommended two more. Was a string to be attached to that? It would be like voting for a declaration of war, and then refusing to provide ammunition.

"Why not make our own armor plate?" persisted Mr. Ridgley.

"The same old story," replied Mr. Cummings, "authorize ships and then instead of building them go to work to build an armor plate factory. That would delay the ships from five to eight years."

"But you said the armor we bought was rotten."

"Not the Krupp armor. The Krupp armor has seven treatments and is tested by our own experts. If our experts do their duty we will have done our duty by the men behind the guns."

Continuing, Mr. Cummings raised a burst of applause by stating that he believed in keeping the army and navy in the Philippines as long as a single rebel defied the authority of the United States. "But when we have conquered them," he added, "I am in favor of treating them as we propose to treat Cuba." He advocated sheathed ships and attributed the loss of the Charleston to lack of sheathing.

Later, Mr. Cummings, reverting to the question of army plate, made this statement: "It was demonstrated to the committee in a way that can not be revealed here, that in paying $545 for Krupp armor we are paying less than any nation in Europe or Asia. England is paying $587 for the same armor, Russia $565, France $605 and Japan $700. Unless the ships already authorized are supplied, I am in favor of buying Krupp armor at $545. When we are even up, I will be willing to talk about an armor plate factory."

Mr. Kitchin, North Carolina, a member of the committee who signed the minority report, argued in favor of the establishment of an armor plate factory. Unless the government was in possession of its own factory he contended the steel companies could hold up the government in the future as they had in the past. He said that Krupp armor, in his opinion, could be manufactured as cheaply as harveyized armor could five years ago.

"I am in possession of information," interrupted Mr. Wheeler, Kentucky, "the source of which I am not at liberty to disclose, which shows that Krupp armor can be manufactured $100 cheaper than harveyized plate."

"The Secretary of the Navy says that it is impossible," observed Mr. Barber, Pennsylvania.

"The Secretary of the Navy," reported Mr. Wheeler, "knows no more about it than the man in the moon."

Mr. Kitchin said the minority would not desire to enter into the government production of armor plate did they not believe it was the only method of protecting the government from extortion.

The House at 5 o'clock adjourned.

ROW IN A DISORDERLY HOUSE

Four Men Killed and Two Others Dangerously Wounded—The Murderer is Supposed to Have Escaped.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., April 16.—Four persons are dead and two are dangerously wounded at the mining town of Windber, near here, as the result of a drunken row in a disorderly house last night. One Italian is charged with the wholesale crime, but it is believed that he is already beyond the reach of the law, as a man answering his description was ground under a train at South Fork this morning.

The row occurred at the home of a French woman known as Mrs. Stuex, until a couple of weeks ago, at which time she was married to an Italian. The place has been known as a "speakeasy" or unlicensed saloon, and has been frequented by both foreigners and Americans employed in the mines of the Berwind-White Coal Co. Yesterday seems to have been a banner day throughout, but no particular demonstration was made until about 10.15 last night when a man appeared at the door and cried that he had been stabbed, ran a few steps and then fell over dead on the street. He was followed by a second and then a third. The fourth man who was killed died in the house and the wounded men were found there.

Mrs. Steux and two other women, who were inmates of the house, are under arrest, and the place is being guarded by men with Winchesters. Various stories are afloat as to the cause of the row, but the women refuse to talk. The town is in a state of wild excitement. Hundreds of people surrounded the house and the pools of blood on the streets where the men died.

Rough treatment will probably be accorded the murderer if it proves that he is still alive and if he is caught.

A RAILROAD DEAL.

The Southern Negotiating for Control of the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis Air Line.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, April 16.—J. P. Morgan & Company authorize the announcement that the Southern Railway Company is negotiating for the acquirement of the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis Air Line and a plan for the reorganization of that company will be issued, based on an agreement by the Southern Railway to take over the property after the reorganization. An agreement has been reached with the holders of $2,000,000 first mortgage bonds, by which they will receive par in new four per cent. bonds for the principal and cash for an agreed amount of interest due on the old bonds.

A large proportion of the consolidated 5 per cent. bonds of the company, which are a first mortgage on the west end of the road, have been purchased by interests said to be friendly to the Southern Railway. A decree for the sale of the entire main line has been allowed under foreclosure of these two mortgages. It is therefore believed that the reorganization will be promptly entered into.

ROBERTS MOVING ON THE BOERS.

Spreading His Net Far and Wide to Capture the Adventurous Commandoes.

BOERS ABANDON WEPENER.

Their Forces Said to Be Retreating in All Directions--Reports from Natal--The British Still Hampered by Lack of Sufficient Horses

By Cable to the Morning Star.

LONDON, April 17, 4.15 A. M.—Lord Roberts has spread his net far and wide to catch the adventurous commandoes that have been making mischief in the southeastern part of the Free State. The net has not yet been drawn; but at the headquarters of Lord Roberts the impression exists that the power of the Boers is decreasing. A Daily News correspondent reports them fleeing northward, a Standard correspondent reports them fleeing southeast, a Daily Telegraph correspondent says that some are going north and others south, while a Morning Post representative says it is not known what the Boers are doing.

Evidently the feeling at Bloemfontein is that the dispositions of Lord Roberts are such as to enable him to concentrate a large force rapidly at any point. The Boers being aware of this are presumed to be thinking now chiefly of retreat.

The investment of Wepener, according to a special dispatch from Bloemfontein, has absolutely been abandoned. According to a Bethany dispatch the Boers are unable to retreat northward, because the British strongly hold all roads.

Diverse reports come from Natal; one asserting that the Boers have retired beyond the Biggarsburg range, and another saying that some of them are close to Ladysmith.

London waits confidently for almost immediate announcement of news favorable to the British.

Distrust exists, however, as to any rapid continuous advance toward Pretoria, chiefly on account of the lack of horses, many of which die on the long voyages. Letters from the Cape say that the three day's journey by rail is made in open trucks, that arrangements for feeding and watering are inadequate and that the unfortunate animals break down in consequence of these hardships. Despite the energies of its buyers abroad the War Office forsees much difficulty in supplying the enormous number of horses required.

Horses for Roberts.

LONDON, April 16.—A Cape Town dispatch says nearly three thousand horses have been landed there since April 13th which indicates that every effort is being put forth to remedy the great defect in the British organization.

The chief Boer delegate, Fischer, accompanied by Dr. Leyds, visited the president of the Dutch cabinet to day at the Hague, but the doings of the delegates create little speculation in England.

Frederick Villers, the veteran war correspondent, who arrived at Southampton to-day from the front, said he believed the worst of the war was over but, the guerilla warfare would continue for some time.

An official bulletin, issued at Pretoria, April 13th, reports that the burghers captured five hundred slaughter-oxen at Wepener and that General Froneman that day defeated the British, causing them to fly in the direction of Wolverport, apparently over the Orange river.

The Irish-American ambulance arrived at Pretoria April 14th.

The Boers report no casualties during the recent fighting at Warrenton.

Fighting Brabant's Horse.

BRANDFORT, April 13, (via Lorenzo Marques).—Fighting with Brabant's Horse at Jammerberg drift continues. Commandant Petrus De Wet is reported to have engaged the troops sent from Bloemfontein to Brabant's assistance.

There was also a brush with a British colonel advancing towards Bultfontein, without decisive result.

All the foreign attaches are now here.

LONDON, April 17.—A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, at Ladysmith, in a dispatch dated April 16th, says: "The Boers are down again at Dewdrop, east of Ladysmith."

Boers Abandon Wepener.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of the Telegraph says: "The Boers have raised the siege of Wepener and have left Rouxville. A majority of them have undoubtedly retired north with the exception of a body of about six thousand, now reported to be going toward Bethulie."

The Daily News has the following from Reddersburg, dated Friday: "General Chernside saw the rear guard of the Boers disappear southeast in full retreat. The enemy appear to be in strong force fourteen miles east of Reddersburg. They are falling back before our advance guard."

SUPREME COURT DECISION.

The Shipper Must Pay the Stamp Charges on Express Packages.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The U. S. Supreme Court to-day decided the cases involving the stamp tax as it applies to Express packages, the question involved being whether the shipper or the carrier shall pay the stamp charge on packages. The opinion was handed down by Justice White and was favorable to the Express companies. There were two cases before the court involving the question at issue, but the opinion was based upon the case of the American Express Company versus Attorney General Maynard of the State of Michigan.

The case came to the Supreme Court from the decision of the State Supreme Court of Michigan, which decision was adverse to the claims of the Express companies. The opinion to-day reversed this opinion.

KENTUCKY GOVERNORSHIP,

Case Docketed to Be Heard on the 30th in the U. S. Supreme Court.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The cases involving the Kentucky governorship were docketed in the United States Supreme Court to-day. A brief statement in which counsel for both Taylor and Beckham joined, was filed at the same time, asking for an early hearing. The court advanced the case to be heard on the 30th instant, and allotted each side four hours for argument,

The racing season in New York State was formally opened by the Queens County Jockey Club at Aqueduct. The largest crowd in the history of the track was on hand. It was estimated at close to 8,000 persons.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE.

Both Sides Seem Satisfied With Situation. Powell Says Its Encouraging—Railroads Taking It Easy.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 16.—The Southern Railway Telegraphers strike, in this vicinity to-day, seemed to be progressing satisfactorily to both sides. President Powell claimed that the situation was encouraging and the railroad officials say they are suffering no inconvenience nor appreciable delays in the operation of trains.

In his statement to day President Powell offers $100 reward for the person, who, it is said, wrote the letter of warning to Mrs J. S. B. Thompson, of the Southern, provided it is shown that a member of the order was implicated in its authorship. According to Mr. Thompson's statement the letter threatened the life of himself and Mrs. Thompson.

Telegraphers' Headquarters.

SELMA, ALA., April 16.—At Marion Junction, fourteen miles south of Selma, on the Mobile and Birmingham division of the Southern, a hotel has been secured by the striking operators on the Southern and headquarters established. From this point it is understood the organizers will operate. Seventeen men registered there to day.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The officials of the Southern Railway in this city declare that the effect of the telegraphers strike are no longer causing embarrassments of any consequence in the movement of the road.

Progress of the Strike.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 16.—M. M. Dolphin, general counsel and first vice president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, who has established headquarters here, to-night gave out the following statement:

"The Southern Railway telgraphers' strike situation on all divisions between Charlotte and Greensboro, Greenville, Asheville and Columbia to-day renders the position of the management untenable. Fifty five additional operators are out on the Knoxville division and eight additional out between Charlotte and Asheville.

We have reliable reports that twenty-three cars of dressed beef, due here last week, have been lost in transit, and a large number of cars of perishable freight destined to points between Asheville and Greensboro have been destroyed. Twenty three striking telegraphers between Charlotte and Greensboro were offered an increase in salaries of from ten to fifteen dollars per month if they would desert the organization, but all are standing firm. The American Federation of Labor today offered their financial as well as moral support through their local representatives on written instructions from National President Samuel Gompers, of Washington.

WORST STORM IN YEARS.

Heavy Rains in Mississippi and Louisiana. Great Damage to Crops.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

JACKSON, MISS., April 16.—All railroad lines entering Jackson are indefinitely tied up as a result of the heavy rainfall, general throughout the State. The down-pour which started about eleven o'clock Saturday night still continues without any present visible prospects of cessation and even the country roads have become impassable. Railroad men say that the flood is the worst known in years.

BUNKIE, LA., April 16.—This section was visited last night by a severe wind and rainstorm. Two dwellings and one store were blown down and the Carnahan hotel was blown from its foundation. Most of the bridges in the town have been destroyed. Lightning struck among a drove of cattle, killing seven. The fields are covered with water and the cotton seed and corn have been washed up.

VICTORY FOR MORGAN.

Overwhelmisg Defeat of Gov. Johnston in the Alabama Primaries.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., April 15.—Latest returns from the primaries held throughout the State yesterday only serve to confirm the overwhelming victory of Senator Morgan over Governor Johnston for the United States Senatorship. St. Clair, with one representative, which was the only county credited to Governor Johnston in last night's report, has fallen into the Morgan column, leaving Johnston without a county as the result of the primary election held in 54 out of 63 counties yesterday.

Senator Morgan will have 116 of the 120 Democratic votes in the General Assembly. W. J. Samford, for Governor, may go to the State Convention with a majority of the delegates, as the returns indicate that he carried the State with the exception of a few counties.

MANILA, April 16, 8.55 P.
